

The Evidence that supports the Claim that the Australian Bureau of Meteorology has been systematically adjusting the historical temperature record for Regional Australia to fit with a political global warming narrative.

The first piece of evidence that supports this claim can be seen in an email thread between Drs Judy Ryan and Marjorie Curtis with Professor David Karoly during February 2014. It is summarised in the final email of that thread and can be seen here.

Some of Professor Karoly's affiliations are listed below.

- Chief Editor (~2010 - current time) of The Australian Meteorological and Oceanographic Journal (AMOJ)
- UN IPCC Lead Author and Review Editor
- Professor of the University of Melbourne
- WWF Science Advisory Panel
- Recipient of millions of dollars of government grants to attempt to model climate using computerised numerical models.

More can be viewed on page 13 of Appendix 9 in the CSIROh! document.
